

Opportunities to engage the next generation of sustainability science leaders

*The Scholars Program is a two-summer paid research experience for Undergraduates
The Fellows Program is a one-summer paid research experience for Graduate students.*

Lasting solutions are inclusive, involving a diversity of stakeholders, and incorporating multiple values

Sustain + Ability

Global Sustainability Scholars program is a life-long network of peer and professional change leaders in global sustainability – building a world we all want to live in today and tomorrow.

- GSS selects top US students with underrepresented backgrounds in STEM to engage in transdisciplinary research and international experiences.
- We provide a strong cohort learning environment, Research mentors, professional skills training which includes collaboration skills, leadership skills, and science communication skills.
- GSS Participants receive a stipend, and GSS pays for travel and lodging while at the research site.
- GSS Fellows and students come away with a robust and meaningful research experience, scientific products, an international professional network, a peer network, and strong mentors to advocate for their careers.

How to get involved:

1. Reach out to gssinfo@gmail.com
2. Learn some more about the program www.gsscholar.org
3. If you are a Researcher and you'd like to host a student, let's talk!
4. If you are writing a grant and want to broaden the participation in your research, drop us a line!
5. If you are a student, make sure to contact us and to apply next fall.
6. If you are a funder, we need your support to make this happen!!

10 Week Paid Professional Training Experience With a Global Sustainability Organization

